LYTP Junior Players' Summer Theatre Camp 2012

The Lambton Young Theatre Players are excited to announce that registrations for the 2012 Junior Players' Summer Theatre Camp are now being accepted.

One week sessions for children between the ages of 8 and 11 years of age will take place at Petrolia's Christ Church for four sessions in July 2012, Mondays through Fridays, with a performance for family and friends on the Friday.

Each session will accommodate a maximum of fifteen children under the guidance of the Young Players' Program Director, Bethany Lawrence (nee Redick), Program Instructor, Anna MacAlpine, and Assistant Instructors, Sara Cecile and Kyle Phibbs.

"We're delighted to welcome Anna MacAlpine to the Lambton Young Theatre Players," exclaimed Artistic Director, Nancy Keys. "She is a very talented young woman, in both theatre and music, and has an excellent background working with younger children. We're anxious to expand the scope of our Summer Theatre Camp, and Anna brings some wonderful new elements to the program. Bethany Lawrence will be writing the script for the Junior Player's summer show, and two of our Young Players senior members, Sara Cecile and Kyle Phibbs, will be assisting with the program."

The Lambton Young Theatre Players' Summer Theatre Camp focuses on teaching beginner acting techniques, character work, voice and improv, and of course, having fun!

Registration fee: $125.00 per child, per one week session.

Session 1: July 2 – 6, Session 2: July 9 – 13, Session 3: July 16 – 20, Session 4: July 23 – 27.
